DETAILED ACTION

Response to Arguments

1. Applicant's arguments with respect to the claims have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.
3. Claims 47-50 & 54-57 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Rosser, (U.S. Pat # 6,446,261).

Considering claim 47, the claimed 'receiver to receive content, an advertisement and update instructions', reads on the operations of the set-top device 44 in Rosser, which receives audio/video, advertisements and insertion information; see Fig. 1; Fig. 2; col. 7, lines 20-58.

'update instructions' are broad enough to read on the LVIS information, such as information attached to a proposed insert, which are sent from the headend and are used to determine which advertisement(s) will be inserted in the content, using the viewer usage profile data 120, col. 7, lines 45-58.

‘a cache, coupled to the receiver, to store the content and the advertisement’, is met by the audio and video storage unit 152, which stores audio/video data, including advertisements, col. 13, lines 11-35 & col. 14, lines 44-48.

‘a shell, in the receiver, to find a place to insert the advertisement in the cached content before the cached content is to be output for display, such that the receiver receives an update from the advertisement and automatically replaces the advertisement using the instructions’, reads on the operation in Rosser of inserting different advertisements in different video, based upon the attached category code, compared at least to the viewer usage profile data 120, col. 7, lines 45-58.

Considering claim 48, the claimed ‘receiver to receive update with a pointer, such that the receiver uses the pointer to store the update at a location’, is inherently included in Rosser, since the LVIS information is specific to a particular program.

Considering claims 49-50, the claimed ‘marker’, reads on the discussion in Rosser that the insertions are placed at particular points to appear seamless, col. 7, lines 40-45 & col. 14, lines 52-67.

Art Unit: 2611

Considering claims 54-55, the advertisement information in Rosser are updated, as periodically as the system downloads new commercial information, see Abstract; col. 7, lines 50-58.

Considering claim 57, Rosser discloses a set-top device 44.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claims 51-54 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Rosser, in view of Khoo, (U.S. Pat # 6,434,747).

Considering claims 51-53, the instant claims are directed to storing a list of advertisements, in order to determine whether a particular advertisement has been already stored. However, even though Rosser clearly is enabled to store multiple advertisements, the reference does not explicitly discuss the use of a list. Nevertheless Khoo, which is in the same filed of endeavor, discloses transmitting a list of customized media that is stored on a user terminal,

Art Unit: 2611

Abstract;; 5, lines 35-50 & col. 8, lines 15-25. It would have been obvious for one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made, to modify Rosser with the teaching of Khoo providing a list of customized media to a user terminal, at least for the desirable purpose of allowing the user to view the instant items that are stored and make modifications, as taught by Khoo, col. 5, lines 41-52 & col. 11, lines 1-15.

Considering claim 54, the claimed feature of 'uploading the list to a remote server', reads on Khoo, which teaches that when the user modifies the list, that the user personalized data is updated, col. 11, lines 10-15. However, Khoo does specifically state that the updated personalized data is transmitted back to the server. Official Notice is taken that at the time the invention was made, it was well known to store user-personalized data a server. It would have been obvious for one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made, to modify the combination of Rosser & Khoo with the well known feature of transmitting user-personalized data upstream to be stored at a remote storage unit, at least for the desirable advantage of allowing in the user-personalized data to be more easily shared by a wider variety of vendors.

Conclusion

6. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

A) Hite Teaches storing advertisement info at a terminal device.

7. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
